As National Director of Not-for-Profit Tax Services, Dave leads the firm's not-for-profit tax services team. His goal is to provide our clients with the highest quality tax services so they can focus on advancing their mission. He is an expert on emerging issues such as the new Form 990, Unrelated Business Income issues, Board Governance, and tax credits and incentives.

Before joining CapinCrouse, Dave was the tax director and the not-for-profit tax lead in Florida for the accounting firm RSM McGladrey. He provided tax consulting services to more than 450 clients, including transitioning them to the new Form 990. He has also spoken extensively at accounting and tax seminars across the country, including the Christian Leadership Alliance National Conference and the Florida Institute of CPAs Annual Not-for-Profit Conference.

With 24 years of accounting experience, Dave has worked both inside not-for-profit organizations and for public accounting firms, including PriceWaterhouseCoopers, BKD LLP, and McGladrey. He earned his B.S. degree from Florida State University.

Dave serves on the board of the Brevard Cultural Alliance and is the co-chair of the FSU Accounting Conference Committee. He is a member of the AICPA and the Florida Institute of CPAs, and holds licenses in Colorado, Florida, and Georgia.

Dave and Lynda, his wife of more than 25 years, live in Viera, Florida. They have a son, Luke, and a daughter, Caitlyn.

JAMES S. OBERLE

317.885.2620 Indianapolis office
joberle@capincrouse.com

With a decade of experience in public accounting, James has focused his professional career in the areas of audit, assurance, and advisory services for the not-for-profit sector. James serves clients throughout the Northeast and Midwest, with special focus in Indiana and New York.

His experience with CapinCrouse primarily includes serving institutions of higher learning, foundations, international mission agencies, churches and denominations, as well as certain for-profit businesses. In addition to leading audit and other attestation engagements, James is a consultant providing solutions to clients in a variety of areas, including financial management and advisory, decision support, accounting, and evaluation of financial systems.

James is a regular instructor of continuing professional education classes and has authored numerous articles on organizational effectiveness, stewardship, and risk management.

He obtained his B.A. degree from Asbury University, and holds memberships in the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, Indiana CPA Society, and Christian Leadership Alliance.

James resides with his wife, Anna, in Indianapolis, Indiana.

TIMOTHY J. SIMS

719.528.6225 Colorado Springs office
tsims@capincrouse.com

With more than 15 years of public accounting experience, Tim has spent much of his career serving not-for-profit clients including associations, foundations, church denominations, international mission organizations, and colleges and universities. He also has extensive for-profit experience working with construction, real estate, manufacturing, and technology clients and has provided services to many clients with respect to their employee benefit plans.

Prior to joining CapinCrouse, Tim served for 12 years with Grant Thornton, including a two-year placement in Cape Town, South Africa, and for 5 years with BKD in Colorado Springs.

Tim's concentration on not-for-profit organizations includes conducting seminars on best practices under the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, fraud and ethics, and specific accounting pronouncements.

Tim holds a B.S. degree in accounting from John Brown University. He currently serves as treasurer on the board of directors of Silver Key Senior Services, an elder care service provider, and as a board trustee for Silver Key Foundation, both located in Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Tim is a member of the AICPA.

Tim and his wife, Cheri, live in Colorado Springs with their five children-John, James, Zoe, Jessie and Logan.
